Dr Sam Ewell

Dr Sam Ewell is a theological practitioner and Benedictine oblate rooted in the Catholic tradition. A US national and permanent resident of Brazil, since 2010 Sam has lived with family in Birmingham UK. Currently, works as a freelance “green connector” with two Christian community development organisations (Companions for Hope and Open Door). In this role, Sam connects and animates residents to “be neighbours on purpose” as a convivial way of “cultivating abundant community from the ground up.”

Rev'd Hasna Khatun

Rev'd Hasna Khatun is a Pioneer Minister with an interest in Islam and Pioneer Missiology. Being from a Muslim Background, she came to follow Christ after the witness of a Jewish friend. She is keen to reference theologies from the Global South as a practitioner, writer and presenter. She has written for Grove on Christians from a Muslim Background in the UK.

Cost £40 (Hot meal and refreshments included)
